Actions Deferred on Elderly Housing Proposal and Cherrywood Culvert

by Al Skolnik

Proposals for making available city-owned land for an elderly housing project and for city financing of the Cherrywood Lane culvert ran into stiff winds at last Monday's city council meeting. As a result, council decided to take more soundings, though on the Cherrywood Lane culvert, its collective mind seemed to have been made up.

On the housing for the elderly project, the council was obviously not yet ready to make a decision. Councilman Joel Katz admitted that situation frankly, while other councilmen such as Dick Pilski indicated that their objections had not yet been overcome. Pilski was concerned that erecting a high-rise apartment project on city-owned land near Candy Cane City might set a zoning precedent for other high-rise projects in the city. A special exception under the R-10 apartment zoning would be needed for the proposed 7-story, 100-unit facility, which would have elevators and community dining rooms.

The sponsoring senior housing group was seeking council approval on Monday night so that a rezoning application could be filed in time to meet the July 31 deadline.

Councilman Edgar Smith expressed some concern over using land dedicated to the city as parkland by the Federal government for residential use, especially since it was brought to his attention that the deed might contain prohibitions against such action. The proposal calls for the city to lease the land for a nominal charge to the senior housing group. The project would be financed through conventional financing and insured by FHA.

Objections Voiced

From the audience additional concern was expressed that there was no demonstrated need for the project, especially if the cost of the units was excessive. Ben Goldfaden suggested that a survey be made to see how many elderly persons would be interested in such a project.

James Cassels, president of the Senior Citizens Housing Corporation, said that elderly housing projects all over the country had waiting lists. The Greenbelt project proposes that 60 percent of the units be rented for $80 to $100, the other 40% reserved as subsidized units under which the Federal Government would pay that part of the rent that exceeded 25% of an elderly person's income. Cassels also noted that no construction could be started unless 90 percent of the units were subscribed, so that there will be, he said, a test of the need for the project beforehand.

Councilwoman Elizabeth Maffay said that several persons have indicated to her disapproval of a high-rise that would tower over other buildings in the area. Cassels said the project, which would be located in a culvert, could be reduced to 6 stories if the city so desired, which would make the facility no higher than the nearby Greenbelt Plaza Apartments.

Former city manager Charles McDonald objected to the site which, he said, was one of the "finest bits of city parkland." A development there, he continued, would disturb the creek bed and increase the possibilities of Braden Field flooding. He also stated that the project would encroach on open space that was intended to serve the nearby apartments.

Joseph O'Loughlin also opposed the site because it was in the middle of a recreation area which generates much noise. Others suggested that such a project more properly belongs in GHI's sphere of action and suggested as a site the GHI-owned garage area on Parkway. Evelyn Feller, Carrie Harper, and other supporters of the project felt, however, that the project was a legitimate function of the city and that the city owed something to the elderly who built up Greenbelt.

Council Action

In the end, councilman Edgar Smith moved that the city ask for a legal opinion as to whether it could lease the parkland for an elderly housing project. Several supporters of the project, such as David Lange and Daniel Latiecq, asked the council to give conditional approval, pending a city solicitor's decision, but Mayor Francis White said that that would put the city in an awkward position.

Smith's motion passed unanimously. All the council members expressed sympathy with the idea of a housing project for the elderly, but the question still remains as to the desirability of the Candy Cane City site.

Cherrywood Lane Culvert

The Cherrywood Lane project involves a city proposal to levy a special assessment to finance the cost of the city's construction of a four-cell box culvert at Indian Creek in order to provide a crossing for Cherrywood Lane. This road construction would provide access to the industrial property owned by Greenbelt Associates.

Lake Park Concerts

The First U. S. Army Band and the Takoma Park Community Singers will highlight next week's open air concerts at the Lake Park.

On Sunday, July 26, at 7 p.m. the Takoma Park group will perform. Formed in March, 1968, as an outgrowth of a local church choir, it is now sponsored by the City of Takoma Park under its Department of Recreation. The membership now numbers about fifty.

The First United States Army Band, one of the most popular groups at the summer concerts here, will perform on Friday, July 31, at 7:30 p.m. This band is a versatile musical organization, capable of performing as a concert band, a marching band, and an 18-piece stage band.

Musical offerings of the First U. S. Army Band range from pre-Bach masters to modern composers such as Stravinsky, Don Gillis, and Richard Rodgers. The highly popular stage band is as familiar with long-established popular music as it is with the modern idioms of progressive jazz.

Conductor and commanding officer of the First U. S. Army Band is Chief Warrant Officer Charles W. Woodman, who brings to the podium many years of professional experience.

SOUTHWAY TRAFFIC

Because of the heavy downpour late Monday afternoon, following major excavations along Southway Rd. between Crescent and Ridge, the street could not be reopened to traffic at the conclusion of the work day, as it has been heretofore. That section of the thoroughfare must be lowered several inches in grade, necessitating removal of all the old pavement. The road then is scheduled to be gravelled to make it passable to traffic until the paving coats are laid.

Insofar as possible the Southway entrance into the city will be kept open to traffic. After the island is constructed from the Baltimore-Washington Parkway exit to Ridge Rd., making Southway a divided street, the contractor will pave only one side of the street at a time, thus leaving the other accessible to traffic.

PEPCO to Eliminate Power Lines in Park

The city received an unexpected piece of good news in a letter dated July 1, which was received from the Potomac Electric Power Co. in answer to a city inquiry concerning the relocating or burying of unsightly power lines that traverse the lake park. In the letter, C. W. Nicolson, Manager of the Governmental Customer Dept. of Pepco, indicates that before the end of 1971 the company plans not only to eliminate the power lines in question, but also the substation on Crescent Rd. opposite the intersection with Greenhill Rd. The substation is surrounded by the forested section of the lake park and is just off the lake trail.

The action is being taken, Nicholson states, as part of a program which will convert the distribution system in the Greenbelt area from 4 kv to 13 kv. Although the substation equipment will be removed, Pepco indicates, the property will be retained for "possible future use."

The genesis of the city's letter to Pepco was a council inquiry during a budget review session in early June about the city's possible payment of expenses to relocate or bury the lines, one of which passes directly over the children's playground at the park. Just beyond the cleared area it joins another line, almost at right angles, that heads north toward Lakeside North apartments. Council had hoped to apply for a federal grant for partial defrayment of costs.

SYMPHONY TO PERFORM

The National Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Lloyd Geisler, will perform a series of free concerts this summer in parks throughout the area. The schedule of concerts is sponsored by the National Park Service's Summer in the Parks program and is subject to change. The Symphony will perform in Greenbelt Park on Saturday, July 25 and August 1 at 4 p.m.

Council Selects Middle Route For Perimeter Rd. in Parcel 1

by Al Skolnik

Full-blown, lively, and informative discussions about the Cherrywood Lane culvert, the perimeter road, and the elderly housing project were the fare served the fortunate citizens who attended last Monday's special city council meeting. On two of the topics council postponed action, but on the third — the perimeter road — council voted unanimously to recommend to the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission the middle route through parcel 1.

MNCPPC had suggested three alternative routes for the perimeter road through the property between Greenbelt Homes, Inc., and the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. In accordance with the city's Advisory Planning Board recommendations, the council chose the middle route. The location of the perimeter road will determine the zoning of parcel 1 and a decision was needed since the District Council (the county commissioners) is scheduled to hear the zoning case in September.

Zoning Involved

According to the College Park-Greenbelt Master Plan and the recommendations of the Prince Georges County Planning Board, land west of the perimeter road is to be zoned R-T (townhouses, 10 units per acre); the land east to be zoned R-80 (single-family homes). The middle route would divide parcel 1 so that roughly 25 acres would be R-T and 80 acres R-80.

The GHI board had recommended a modification of the middle route to bring the road slightly closer to the GHI boundary line, but the council rejected this suggestion after hearing MNCPPC's objections. Roy F. Cowell, representing the MNCPPC staff, said that the GHI route would produce an extra curve in the road. Also, it would carve out a sliver of vacant land which would be hard to develop esthetically without putting the townhouses right up against the GHI property line.

Concern Expressed

Several members of the audience expressed concern that city endorsement of an 80-foot right-of-way for the perimeter road would provide a leverage for the developer to plead for higher-density development. It was also feared that the city's endorsement of the perimeter road would strengthen the case for keeping the senior high school on parcel 2. Councilwoman Elizabeth Maffay voiced similar concerns.

However, Mrs. Maffay, the rest of council, and as far as can be determined the majority of the audience felt that the city ran a greater risk of taking no action at this time. As Mayor Francis White put it, "MNCPPC has asked us for our advice and recommendations. If we take no position, we will be leaving the decision to the MNCPPC staff and District Council, and nobody knows what the results will be."

Mrs. Rhea Cohen, on behalf of the Save Our Community Committee, submitted a petition requesting that the city re-establish the concept of an outer "green belt" by purchasing some of the vacant land in parcel 1 as a buffer to existing development and thus lessen the need for an 80-foot perimeter road right-of-way.

Mayor White observed that it could be a very expensive proposition if the city attempted to purchase every piece of vacant land whenever it presented a problem. In any event, White said, only two lanes are being envisioned for the perimeter road.

One-leg Perimeter Road?

Mrs. Cohen then suggested that only one leg of the perimeter road — the southern leg crossing the Baltimore-Washington Parkway and exiting Greenbelt Road — be considered, thus avoiding the construction of a perimeter road near populated Laurel Hill, Research Road, and Boxwood Village sections.

It was observed by some that her suggestion was not incompatible with the action council was taking that night, since council was only considering a small segment of the perimeter road east of the GHI property line on parcel 1. It was admitted by all that some sort of collector road would be needed in

Object of Prejudice

To the Editor:

Citizens of Greenbelt, we have read with interest many sound offs on everything from cat lovers to who is qualified to hold public office. After five years of serene living here (and we prefer it to any city we've lived in), we felt compelled to write our own legitimate sound off.

Are you aware that there are those among us who would not commit some overt act against a minority citizen such as name-calling or egg-tossing, but who would on the other hand, discriminate against an innocent child? (We'd appreciate your continuing to refrain from name-calling and egg-tossing) BUT, why should our child, a mere babe of less than two years, be the object of your prejudice?

We had occasion to run an ad for child care and were deluged with all manner of housewives desiring to keep our son, sight unseen; all of whom, I'm certain assumed us to be of the "superior" race. I'm afraid we must expose the narrow-minded housewife who accepted our generous offer to pay above the going rate for child care. Oh how kind she was by phone! Later, upon learning that our child had a natural tan, it seems that within minutes a relative had undergone a serious operation and lay near death's door. He needed her assistance badly. I'm sorry, but I cannot subscribe to this one—it gives me indigestion.

Did you think our child could contaminate yours? There isn't a better kept child around. However, I suppose you did us a favor to show your prejudice. We wouldn't want the likes of you to keep our child. What would the neighbors think? My experience is that most people aren't that much "in love" with their neighbors, but use this as a scapegoat for their own bigotry.

At first you patronized us, but we accepted this as being your way of extending a welcome to "you folks." We'd like you to ignore our race and treat us as individuals. Most of the Greenbelt citizens whom we've encountered (including our present sitter) have done just that. Shame on that small faction who hasn't!

City Notes

For the third month in a row the city has been commended by County inspectors for the cleanliness of the landfill operation. Regular inspection of such facilities was begun under a new directive from the State Health Dept.

Four new employees have been hired to bring the Public Works Dept. nearly up to strength. Only one full-time position remains unfilled. Three long-sought truck drivers were among the group. One new man is currently also being checked out as a possible equipment operator. The refuse collection crew is now at full strength.

Because of the heavy rains the city crew has put in much time recently in clearing away silt and debris from city streets. Even the city manager's office got wet in the very heavy downpour, the problem being attributed to a broken drain pipe leading to a storm sewer. Repair will require excavation of the lawn beside the Municipal Building.

A contractor has been painting the interior of the Municipal Building and the recently acquired Lutheran Church building.

Planning Meeting For Labor Day Fete

The Labor Day Festival committee will hold a planning meeting Tuesday, July 28, in the lower level of the new Greenbelt library at 7:30 p.m. All participating organizations should have a representative present. Any other interested individuals or groups are also invited to attend.

Swim Team News

by Mike "Turtle" Jones

What the Greenbelt Swim Team anticipated as an easy victory last Saturday didn't turn out as easy as most people thought. It was only after the last event that Greenbelt knew that they had edged Rock Creek 247-239. Starting in the meet for Greenbelt were Carol Brimberry and Bob Mongelli, who took three first places each and scored 15 points apiece.

Other high scorers were Kevin Shaughnessy (13), Olga Penny (13), Laine Oertel (11), Lynn Labukas (10), Edith Beauchamp (9), Mark Hanlon (9), Mariette Vanderzon (9), Annette Vanderzon (8), David Mongelli (8), Jerry Petrillo (8), and Nancy Douglas (8).

This Saturday, July 25, Greenbelt will swim at Belair. Swimmers and officials should be ready to leave the pool by 7:45 a.m.

parcel 1 to handle the traffic generated by its eventual development regardless of whether the perimeter road eventually has two legs (exiting at Kenilworth Ave. and Greenbelt Rd.) or one leg (exiting at Greenbelt Rd.).

Mrs. Mildred Murrow noted that David Fisher, chairman of the State Roads Commission, had promised a public hearing on the entire perimeter road when the SRC has completed its feasibility and engineering study of the road.

Near the end of the discussion, it was facetiously suggested that some of the heat engendered by the perimeter road could be avoided by giving it another designation, especially since the term "perimeter road" tends to conjure up preconceived images.

Other Action

In other action, the council

- 1) Approved a resolution designating Sunday, August 2, as "Community-University-Day." The University of Maryland is scheduling a series of free programs for the entire family in a centrally located area of the campus, including open seminars, exhibitions, recreational events, and theater and musical presentations.
- 2) Set up a special meeting to be held in Springhill Lake on Wednesday, August 12, to discuss matters of prime importance to Springhill Lakers.
- 3) Passed for final reading a motion to reduce the single-pass swimming pool rate to 50 percent of the family rate. For residents, this would mean a rate of $14 a season. Refunds will be issued to persons subscribing to the old rate of $17.
- 4) Asked the city manager to follow up on the status of the position paper that was to be prepared by the county school board regarding the choice of a site for a senior high school.
- 5) Approved an increase in mileage allowance from 10 to 12 cents per mile for employees using private vehicles on city business.

Softball Championship

Men's Softball League play continued with the final re-scheduled make-up games for the "A" and "AA" Leagues. First half winner M & J will take on the winner on the second half, which appears, at this time, to be Greenbelt Shell in a two out of three games. The contest will be held July 27, 28, 29, at 7:30 p.m. on Braden Field.

Statistics have been completed on the Men's "AA" Softball League to determine who goes to the Sectional Tournament, which will lead to play in the Regional and National Tournaments. An additional team from the Greenbelt League will be allowed into the County play offs because Greenbelt Shell, as defending Regional Champion, automatically passes to the Metro Tournament. A fourth team could represent Greenbelt, depending on how M & J does in its County League play off. If M & J represents the County, Gilroy's Construction will represent Greenbelt; as the first half-third place team. If Greenbelt Shell wins the second half, the second half-third place team will also be sent to the Sectional.

"A" League, the Springhill Lakers, have the championship with a score of six wins and no losses. The Post Office will be in second place, depending on the outcome between the Greenbelt Jaycees and Salvage. The "A" Tournament was rained out Monday and will continue with first round play on the 22nd. At 8 p.m., the Greenbelt Jaycees will take on the Lakewood Tigers and the Greenbelt Fire Department will play the Greenbelt Post Office at 9 p.m. On Thursday at 9:15 p.m. Springhill Lake will play Salvage. The final two games in this single elimination Tournament will be on July 27 and 28, following the "A" City Championship Games.

PRAB Elects Officers

The City Parks and Recreation Advisory Board conducted an election of officers for the 1970-71 year at the regular monthly meeting, on July 20. Heading the board, as Chairman, will be Dr. John W. Churchill, 5-D Ridge. Veteran board member Joseph O'Loughlin will take over the duties of Vice-Chairman and Darald Lofgren, Recreation Director, assumes the post as secretary. Larry Noel, Sue Simko, Virginia Moriyadas, Jerry Shaffer, Lenny Grossman, the Rev. Kenneth Buker, Hugh D. Jascourt and Richie Stevenson also serve on the committee.

The Advisory Board members were unanimous in a motion to show appreciation to Jascourt for his services and other leadership over the past four years as Chairman.

Other agenda items at the meeting included a study of APB report number 96 and committee reports concerning noise at teen activities and the park area between Northway and Greenhill Road.

Jaycees Installation

The Greenbelt Jaycees held their Annual Installation of Officers on Saturday, July 11, during a Hawaiian Luau and Awards dinner.

Installed as President was David Conley; Vice Presidents were Stuart Filler and Robert Hanson; Secretary, John Whalen; Treasurer, Al Kerrigan; State Director, Denis Gillen; and Director William Pine. Final yearly awards were given to Robert Hanson, Bruce Munro, John Whalen, David Conley and Gregory White for being Key Men in the Chapter. The Jaycee of the Month was presented to Stuart Filler and Bruce Munro. Gregory White was awarded the Committee of the Year for the Labor Day Festival, The Spoke Award was presented to Denis Gillen, the Jaycee of the Year to William Pine, and J.C.I. Senatorship award to Charlie Giordano. Robert Brown, State President, and John Guise, National Director, were in attendance.

The Jaycees are looking forward to one of their finest years in serving the Community. They have tripled their membership over the past year and are eagerly anticipating the community projects that lie before them. Any young man of good character between his 21st and 36th birthday is eligible to join this organization. For more information please call Bob Hanson 345-8803.

COUNCIL from page 1, c. 2 present owners of Springhill Lake Apartments. It is proposed that 100 percent of the cost by assessed against the benefiting property owners, Greenbelt Associates, including all engineering costs, administrative costs, and the costs of financing.

The proposal drew a sharp attack from Charles McDonald, who said it was not the function of the city to use its taxing powers to benefit a private developer. Mayor White argued that the city would benefit, since the project would open up the area to industrial development and thus increase the city's revenue base.

McDonald said that this was a dubious proposition since businessmen are not interested in Greenbelt land for industrial development because of the combined city and county tax rate. During the 1950's, he said, other industrial property in the city was widely advertised, with no takers; finally the owners downzoned the property — in the case of Beltway Plaza to commercial development and in the case of Springhill Lake to R-18 apartments.

McDonald felt that the Springhill

Lake industrial development might suffer the same fate and that the owners might resort to using the land for high-rise apartments — which would not be the purpose of the improvement.

White Defends Move

White reiterated that the project would not cost the city a cent and that any switch to using the industrial property for residential use would require public hearings and approval by the zoning authorities. In any event, White said, citing the recent Doxiadis report, experts in Prince Georges County keep stressing the need for broadening the industrial base and "here is one time where the city can assist in achieving that goal." He also said that the property owners have told council that they have potential clients lined up for the industrial property.

In reply to McDonald's assertion that culverts and storm drains are really a responsibility of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission, city manager James Giese said that WSSC has already approved the culvert and that the culvert was not primarily for storm drain purposes.

The rest of the council issued similar statements in support of the project, but floundered over questions involving the extent to which the financing of the project would be guaranteed by the Springhill Lake owners. The council said it would not approve the project until it had security agreements written that would assure liens against the property owners and the mortgagors in case of defaults. The matter was thus tabled until the next meeting, scheduled for Monday, August 10.

Also deferred until the next meeting was a petition for city council enforcement of the proposed County Charter draft and appointments.

Fish Fry Outing

William Lathom of the Save Our Community Committee announces that a special Fish Fry Dinner Outing will be held in Greenbelt on August 8. He said the affair was planned to "express the city's gratitude to the County Commissioners for their unanimous support of the city's efforts to block the imminent construction of the senior high school on parcel 2." Commissioners Francis Aluisi, Francis Francois and Gladys Spellman plan to be in attendance, he said, and will make a short report on recent developments.

An ad hoc committee to plan the event will be headed by Leo Gerton and Lathom.

Why is Twin Pines a Co-op?

Because it is a democratically controlled, nonprofit business.

Everyone with $100 or more in his savings account has a vote, and no one has more than one vote. They elect the Board of Directors who control the business.

All earnings are put into reserves or distributed to the savers as dividends.
